

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

THE CLUB TO REOPEN WITH A MAJOR FACELIFT

SINGAPORE, 22 July 2015 | The newly refurbished The Club is poised to reopen its doors after undergoing a nine-month extensive refurbishment. The Club's newly defined spaces are set to be the latest luxury boutique setting encapsulating luxurious rooms and five exciting food & beverage – all under one roof.

Upon reopening, the fresh new look will bring travellers and locals alike under one interconnected mix of rooms, restaurants, bars and rooftop venues. Planned as an ideal destination getaway to Ann Siang Hill, the once traditional home of exclusive social clubs will be a prime hotspot to revive the spectacular landscape of the venue's rich diversity and historical roots. Encompassing a total guest experience from the first encounter until the last, The Club invites guests to mingle and stay throughout with its multitude of offerings from day to night.

The Club resides in a heritage building which features 20 well-appointed rooms including two suites and five unique restaurants and bars. The tastefully decorated rooms and suites are lavish in style and comfort to capture the essence of pure luxury.

"The Club's luxurious rooms will bring guests to experience an abode of comfort, intimacy and space. The soothing earth tones, eclectic art accessories, and bespoke furniture are designed to inculcate the warmth and domestic elements, offering a comforting stay for the night. Offering its guests a place to call their own, The Club's relaxing and social environment are carefully curated to offer guests with an array of choices to dine and unwind" said Miss Sharon Seong, General Manager for The Club.

Housing five restaurants and bars under its roof, The Club consists of several new wine and dine concepts. Soon to join the highly acclaimed B28 underground whisky bar, guests can expect to see an impressive lounge café & bar, a graceful champagne yard, a second restaurant by The Disgruntled Chef, and the first Peruvian themed rooftop bar in Singapore.
